Concept Note

The two days seminar on “Self-Advocacy of Persons with Intellectual Disabilities (Divyangjan) (PwIDs)” aims at the paradigm shift from Medical Model to the Right Based model in the field of disability rehabilitation. United Nations Convention on the Rights of Person with Disability (2006) assures all the Human Rights should be made available to each and every Person with Disabilities including PwIDs. India is one of the signatory of the convention and therefore committed to implement the provisions made under it.

Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act 2016 covered 21 categories of disabilities. It ensures to uphold the dignity of Persons with Disabilities in society and prevent any kind of Discrimination. Self-advocacy is the key for realization and enjoyment of one’s own rights. NIEPID has taken initiatives in formation of parent’s groups and parent’s organizations and provided continuous support to empower parents and PwIDs. The parent organizations become the game changer in the empowerment of PwIDs. Now the time has come to empower PwIDs to become advocate for themselves and other individuals with disabilities.
